

Jobs that let you get a lot more out of life

IMAGINE how well you would feel if you had no "job" to tie you down. No bosses breathing down your neck, no "official" hours, and to be able to work when you want, for whomever you want, as much as you want?

Did anyone ever tell you the purpose of your life is to express yourself? If you're not doing so maybe you're living the wrong life!

What better way to express yourself than to pursue a new and rewarding qualification. Open up a whole new world of opportunity for yourself today and retrain for a career in Holistic Medicine.

That's nice, you may say, but someone's got to pay the bills. The fear of the unknown is what keeps us in unfulfilling jobs.

Alexis Carrell once said "Man, woman, the unknown.....the greatest challenge of them all". The unknown is nothing to fear. In fact, the unknown can be the greatest adventure.

But what if I told you that Holistic Medicine is one of the world's fastest growing industries? The field of Holistic Medicine offers the potential for a lucrative part-time or full-time career, doing work that will give you great job satisfaction.

Retraining for a new or second career in holistic medicine is a perfect opportunity to do work that is of real value to people.

A career in Holistic Medicine gives you more out of life, more personal satisfaction, more results with clients and more earning opportunities.

A BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY

Holistic Therapists just starting out can achieve high weekly earnings in just a few evenings per week. For full-time therapists the rewards can be much greater.

Initial setup costs can be quite low as many people will work either from their own home, in private practice or in conjunction with an established business such as a sports centre, leisure centre or golf club, fitness centre - the list is endless.

Furthermore with the right qualifications you can easily work abroad in holiday centres, cruise ships, beach clubs or indeed from your own centre.

Not only will you be able to establish an exciting full-time or second career in your chosen field you will also have the flexibility to work from home, in a health studio, teach classes, travel etc. The sky's the limit!

EDUCO SYSTEM

Our courses are unique as they seek to re-establish a holistic approach to life by incorporating the philosophy of Holistic Medicine.

The Diploma courses are based on the Educo system of Dr. Tony Quinn, which in turn is based on cutting-edge university validated mind-technology research applicable to all areas including medicine.

The therapist is taught how to apply the mind technology approach both personally and with clients, leading to greater results with less effort.

Indeed, Dr. Quinn was awarded his M.Sc. degree for work in this area which included assisting at four major operations using only mind technology for anesthesia.

By Caitriona Tierney

The courses take into account the potential effect a therapists' mental state exerts on the outcome of the treatment, as well as the potential influence of the life-force within the patient.

Our internationally recognised Certificate from the City of Guilds London Institute, a leading public awarding body, and the Yoga Alliance offers the possibility of working in many countries throughout the world.
